

Destructivism and Pathocracy

What has led the West into the current silent disaster?

Already as a child playing in the sandbox I experienced the difference between creative-constructive and insidious-destructive people. There are always children who build sand castles, and those who jump into them as soon as the builder turns away.

The sand castle builders later go into constructive occupations in which they become builders of wisely-designed structures. The most ambitious of the sand castle destroyers become politicians. They are obsessed with "changing" all structures traditionally work. They radically "renew" and trample everything that's natural. That's what they call "making policy".

Destruction as "mainstreaming of the society"

For destructive people, creating and destroying is the same. Except that destroying is more spectacular and leads to "success" in less time. All "Century Reforms" of recent decades have destroyed functioning systems and replaced them with oppressive power structures and bureaucracy. Nothing was really improved: The monetary system, education system and social system have been "reformed" into dysfunctionality. Marriage, family, nation, religion, country, culture, and not least our self-image as men and women were dismantled. Crushing someone by telling him that he finally forgets whether he is a man or a woman was the greatest threat in my youth. The devastation of these most basic biological human self-understanding today left-green politicians propagandize as "the main issue of social transformation" in the form of "Gender Mainstreaming". Not even the murderous red-brown culture-destroyers of the 20th century came up with the idea of doubting natural gender.

From the "death instinct in history"

The protest against this systematic, political rape of the natural human order is now the issue at the Monday demonstrations (PEGIDA = Patriot Europeans against the Islamisation of the West). The PEGIDA "Monday walkers" fight back against the wanton decomposition of all that gives mankind honor, support and position. The steerable - because vulnerable - and purchased, destructive politicians play the role of Cerberus in that game. Cerberus is this "demon of the Underworld" from Greek mythology, the hell-hound that guards the entrance to the underground, so that no dead man comes out and no living man can enter.

The "death instinct in history" has its home in international/national socialist parties and organizations. It is accompanied by the totalitarian urge to tear down everything that's outside the average and re-educate anyone who does not follow. Communism and counterfeit-money imperialism are two sides of the same coin. Communism centralizes the market economy under oligarchy order to destroy the natural manner of trade. Fiat money imperialism destroys the market economy to centralize it under an oligarchic order, which just takes longer and gives more time to the pathocrats for destruction and sadistic tortures to "modernize" society. The destructivism has no goal except destruction, power and self-satisfaction. Therefore the attempt to point out to these people the consequences of their actions is not only futile, no, it even leads them to terrible new ideas.

The revenge of the psychopaths

This defect is the innate trait in the soul of the psychopaths. Therefore these people are the ideal candidates for positions of power into which they themselves are again hoisted by other psychopaths. Psychopaths recognize each other, because they are always in a minority compared to normal and decent people - by whom they are shunned. This instinctively correct discrimination by mentally healthy persons makes psychopaths seek revenge on the society from their childhood on. They politically cultivate their hate against the common structures which exclude them and try to equalize everybody at their pathological level. That's why they go into politics. That's easy for them, as psychopaths lack empathy and conscience. Mentally healthy people would hesitate inflict upon society such treachery and ruthless plans.

Pathocracy: Constructive and reasonable people fail

When psychopaths finally became politicians and develop into to pathocrats, they surprise everyone with their mere average intelligence. Many decent people make the wrong interpretation in thinking that the power position of these people is based on a particular acumen or knowledge of domination. No, it is only their unscrupulousness and ability to lie without blushing. Even repentance is unknown to them. If the proportion of constructive people at decision-making levels of government decreased to the current level, the psychopaths determine the issues, and the reasonableness falls silent, we have arrived at the pathocracy - the political order of the psychopaths.

The financial crash of 2008 was the chess move of the pathocrats to establish their regime in the form of the imperial New World Order. The vengeful psychopaths, driven by their auto-racist sentiment, turn against the European race. Politicians swear to avert damage to the nation, but immediately after taking the oath, they turn round against us. For this purpose, they use all means of propaganda and perversion of justice to support Islam as opposition to the traditional culture, to infiltrate the West.

With the security of the experience of one and a half millennia, Islam lies at right angles to our culture. That's not a problem as long you accept different cultures in different countries. But the multicultural dogma tries to destroy the cultural homogeneity of nations, and provokes civil wars in the long-term view. Non-Muslim foreigners become indistinguishable from Europeans after one generation. Too many in the second generation of followers and friends of the Muslim subjugation project are less integrable than the parents.

No general verdict against Muslims

Now and in the future Muslims will distinguish between "WE" and "YOU". We learned by experience that in accordance with their increasing population the separatist efforts increase with every subsequent generation. The goal of the New World Order protagonists seems to be the achieve to a critical mass of Muslims in every Western country, to keep their governments under control by extortion. The extortion is the threat to bring them into position against us by targeted propaganda and hate speech, if it is profitable.

I have traveled a lot through Muslim countries and have had only good experiences with my Muslim colleagues. I appreciate their kindness and the sense for the natural order which is perverted in the West. Talking with a Muslim believer about the holy order higher than us makes a Muslim much more familiar to me than most atheists. Therefore, I am far from making a general verdict. However, I also know what havoc is wrought by instrumentalized group dynamics. I have experienced it again just in the relationship between my Ukrainian and Russian colleagues. People who were friends before suddenly became zealous in their hatred of each other.

Psychopaths push peoples against each other

This process is always set in motion by powerful psychopaths and ice-cold calculating criminals who dominate politics and the mass media. The process is never started by common people who had come to terms with each other. Therefore, the culture clash against the backers inside the mainstream media and the government broadcasts has the highest priority. When they begin to rouse us against each other to provoke civil war, we should be ready to understand the game they play with us and thwart their plans.

The goal of the insertion of foreign cultural groups into homogeneous populations, by economically and politically powerful actors, is the destruction of culture and the marginalization of the natives in their own country. The Romans called it "Divide and rule". All western nations are affected in the same way by this "Ponerogenesis", which means the rise of evil. But the people are beginning to resist the false reality of the dominating pathocrats. The pathocrats are blind to the fact that they will eventually extinguish themselves, because they are driven by the blind desire for revenge against the respectable people who have shunned them since childhood by reason in the sandbox. They are keen only on destruction, diabolical power and hatred.

This makes them the perfect tools in the hands of an empire, whose plans for world domination nothing stands in the way of but uncontrollable, self-confidence homogeneous, civilized nations. They set Muslims against Muslims, Muslims against Christians, atheists against Christians, Albanians against Serbs, Ukrainians against Russians - and each vice versa. Each group that can be instrumentalized for a civil war is welcomed by them. After years of intellectual impotence and mental paralysis there is a growing desire among people all over the world to confront the destroyers and warmongers and get rid of them.
